MR. WU TALKS ON BOYCOTT HEAVY SUMMER TRAFFIC. REPLY FROM MR. ROBINSON

Milder Regulations and Admission to Hawaii Desired.

Peking, Aug. 9.-Wu-Ting-fang, former Chinese Minister at Washington, said to-day that the existing regulations for the exclusion of Chinese from the United States were unsatisfactory from the Chinese point of view, and that it was desired that they should be modified by the new convention. The Chinese, he said, agreed to the exclusion of coolies, and this point presented no difficulty, but the existing regulations pressed with severity on other classes. He mentioned the cases of merchants, travellers for pleasure, students and others, who, while nominally admissible to the United States, were forced to undergo examinations which, though possibly necessary, were generally rendered highly objectionable on account of the manner in which the regulations were enforced. He said:

A superior Chinaman arriving at San Francisco, for example, is detained by the authorities while his credentials are being examined, and this detention frequently involves consorting with a low class of coolies in a common shed He is unable to communicate with friends, and is subjected to inconveniences and indignities to which Americans would refuse to submit. Moreover, he is not allowed to retain the services of any one to protect his interests, and if the im-migration authorities decide against him there migration authorities declade against him there is no possibility of appeal. That these grievances are well founded is demonstrated by the necessity for President Roosevelt's stringent order that courtesy be shown the Chinese by the immigration officials under pain of dismissal. There have been numberless instances of harsh treatment which the Americans themselves have been

Mr. Wu admitted that European immigrants were not allowed representation by lawyers or others in their examinations, but he rejected this argument because he said the Chinese in other respects received treatment entirely different from that accorded to Europeans.

The Chinese government said Mr. Wu, while agreeing to the exclusion of coolies, urged as the main points of a new convention that the better classes of Chinese be treated on an equal footing with other aliens, with the right to retain counsel and the right of appeal if necessary. China also desired the admission of coolies to Hawaii, which he regarded as of the utmost importance. Hawaii was greatly in need of laborers, and since the Chinese were excluded the industries of the islands had suffered. At all events, the Chinese there could not compete with American labor. The Philippines had long been a natural field for Chinese industry, but the application of the exclusion act to the islands had changed this. Regarding the desirability of Chinese labor in the Far East, Mr. Wu referred to the prosperity of Singapore and the adjacent country

Mr. Wu added that he greatly regretted the Chinese boycott of American goods and steamship and insurance companies, as it might estrange the good will of Americans, which he highly prized. Apparently, however, the Chinese classes most concerned, considering that the prospects for the solution of the difficulties arising from the application of the exclusion act were remote, decided on the boycott as the only means of ventilating the grievance. He pointed out that the movement against Americans, though well organized by the best and most representative Chinese, was altogether pacific, and was not directed against persons or The former Minister admitted that he was surprised at the extent of the movement and the depth of feeling shown not only by the mercantile classes, but by the students and even the women, and said that such an expression of public sentiment meant extraordinary progress in the direction of the growth of a real nationality. He could not tell what the results would be should the boycott be disregarded, but and trusted if would soon be rendered supergrievances of which China complained.

Mr. Wu's attention was called to reports crediting to him the direction of the boycott. He indignantly repudiated the suggestion. He said it would be as unreasonable to expect that his government had the ability to compel the Chinese to purchase goods as to believe that the United States government was able to prevent Chicago strikes. He added:

I regret that so little progress has been made In the negotiations for a new convention. Should the American government permit the Wishes of China to be embodied in this convention, it would practically have no effect on the United States, as Hawali and the Philippines concern American labor, while the facilities required for superior Chinese immigrants in the United States are admittedly just and rea-sonable. I suggest that an educational test would be the most effective means of preventing the ingress of coolles and an easy means of ascertaining the eligibility of other classes, be sides eliminating undesirable class distinction.

In conclusion Mr. Wu said in his opinion a clearer definition of the term laborer was neces-

NEW FORM OF MONEY ORDER.

GRIEVANCES OF CHINA. Metropolitan System Has Largest No Merchants' Trust Bids Accept-July Earnings in Its History.

· The expectation that the Metropolitan Street Railway system's earnings for July would. like those for the preceding month, be of record size has been realized. The gross earnings last month were $1,892,689, the largest for any July in the company's history, and $79,400 larger than those for July, 1904, when the only competition was that from the elevated roads, the subway lines at that time not having been placed in operation. The high record month of the Metropolitan system was May, 1903, when the gross earnings were $1,948,795.

earnings were $1.948.795.

The earnings for June—$1.887.834—were the largest for that month in any year, more than $22,000 in excess of those for June, 1904. Their volums was attributed to the normal growth of traffic and to the inability of the travelling public to endure the manifest discomforts of the subway, causes which are probably explanatory also of the record showing for July, as the problem of purifying and cooling the air in the subway has not yet been satisfactorily solved.

The heavy increase of earnings over those for July, 1904, is believed to be also in part directly due to the excessive heat in the middle of the month, when walking even comparatively short distances or the climbing of stairs was a burden.

NO D., L. AND W. DELAY.

Full Traffic at Burned Hoboken Terminal Resumed.

Vice-President E. E. Leomis of the Lackawanna Railroad, upon whom fell the responsibility of clearing up the situation caused by the destruction of the road's Hoboken terminal, owing to the absence in Europe of President Truesdale, considered his work so well advanced last night that he rested. He had been on constant duty since early Tuesday morning. In that time most of the debris had been carted away, two ferry slips put in operation and full ferry and train service resumed.

emporary station, which will do duty for two years, is well under way. By noon to-day all nine of the terminal tracks will have been relaid and platforms built for them. Last night passengers departing had no further to walk than before the fire.

The temporary station is being erected to the north and west of the old terminal, and in such a position as not to interfere with the erection of the permanent station.

The ferry service was run as before the fire, except that all teams are still being sent to 14th-st. Hoboken. This will not continue long.

COOLIE CASE PUZZLING.

Jurisdiction Over Crew of the Dordogne Not Settled.

A complicated question of law has arisen over the arrest of seven Chinese coolies of the crew of the British tramp steamship Dordogne, on the charge of attacking their officers, while the ship was lying off Liberty Island, Tuesday night. After two hearings in the Tombs police court yesterday, consultations with the British and Chinese consuls and the local federal authorities, as well as the appearance in the case of a representative of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Magistrate Breen held the seven coolies in $1,000 ball each until this morning, that he might obtain the advice of the District Attorney as to the jurisdiction in the case. The coolles could not give bail, having no friends in New-York, and were sent to the Tombs.

Aside from the legal questions involved in the case, its merits are open to discussion, if the story told by the prisoners, through an interpreter, is true. Captain F. W. Gray, of the Dordogne, puts all the blame on the coolies, but the prisoners said that they were compelled to defend themselves from the assaults of a drunken engineer.

When the prisoners were arraigned Edmund fluous by the satisfactory settlement of the Breen that the court had no jurisdiction if Captain Gray charged the coolies with mutiny, but that they must be turned over to a British Ad-mirally Court. Captain Gray interposed, saymiralty Court. Captain Gray interposed, saing that he wished to charge the coolies may ing that he wished to charge the cooles merely with assault. Then Magistrate Breen held that on such a charge his court had jurisdiction, and he ordered a complaint of feionious assault to be drawn. His ground for this was that the alleged assault was committed in the waters of New-York Harbor. It is possible, however, that the offence was committed in the water of Newthe offence was committed in the water of New-Jersey, it being a question as to just where the Dordogne lay on Tuesday night. Should it appear that the assault was committed in Jersey waters, that State would have to take the case. Magistrate Breen put the case off till afternoon. Mr. Price went to United States Commissioner Shields, and asked him to interfere, but the Commissioner refused, and advised him to see the British Consul. Price did so, and was advised that the British Consulate would not interfere in the case, as it considered the matter within the jurisdiction of the local courts.

When the afternoon hearing opened a man When the afternoon nearing opened a man who said he represented Commissioner Berkshire, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, appeared, and asked that the coolies be sent back to the Dordogne and taken in irons to Jamaica, the nearest British Admiralty Court, where they could be tried. His contention was that the coolies, as Chinese, and excluded from this courtry, should be turned over to the British courts.

When Magistrate Breen imposed $1,000 baff on When Magistrate Breen imposed $1,000 bail on the prisoners, the representative of the Department of Commerce and Labor objected, saying that the coolles, as excluded Chinese, should not be given a chance to obtain even freedom here. Through an interpreter, the coolles said they would rather go to jail and stay there than go back to the Dordogne again, as they feared the engineer would kill them in revenge if they went back. Captain Gray feared the coolles would rise, when opportunity came, and kill the white Forgeries.

Washington, Aug. 9—Before leaving Washington for his vacation, Postmaster General Cortelyou directed that a new form of money order, which, it is believed, will be proof against alteration by forgers, be issued. The department has been greatly annoyed by the operations of persons who purchase money orders for small amounts and raise them, passing them on merchants after office hours. Although the direct loss falls entirely on those who accept the orders, the department refusing to cash them except as originally drawn, a beary indirect expense has been involved in the form adopted will be issued as soon as new plates can be prepared and other arrangements made.

Douglas Robinson, one of the receivers of the Merchants' Trust Company, yesterday sent to the depositors' protective committee, headed by Isaac Pennemacour, the following letter, in answer to their recent communication to him, in which they asked a series of questions relative to the trust company's affairs:

Gentlemen: During my absence on a business trip, which occupied four or five days, your let-ter to me, as one of the receivers of the Mer-chants' Trust Company, propounding certain questions in reference to the affairs of that company, was forwarded to me. I regret that it was not received in time to respond thereto prior to the meeting of the depositors, which took place on Monday night. Any delay in responding to the letter, however, appears to have been of no consequence, since you interviewed Mr. King, vice-president of the co-receiver, the New-York Trust Company, in the presence of Edward Lauterbach, counsel for the receivers.

To briefly sum up the answers to the questions extended. To orieny sum up the answers to the questions contained in your letter about the various offers for the assets of the Merchants' Trust Company, I beg to say that we have not received any offer for our interest in the Hudson Valley Railroad, or in the Rutland properties, by themselves, or in connection with other securities, commensurate, in our opinion, with the value of the properties, after careful personal examination. No offer has been received for these properties which we felt as representing these properties which we felt, as representing all the interests of the Merchants' Trust Com-pany, depositors, creditors and stockholders, we ld recommend to the court for its approval When we are able to get such a bid, or bids, we shall lose no time in asking the court for its approval of the acceptance of such offer, or realization of the assets will permit.

I understand that the State appraisers are nearly ready to render their report. When that is filed, we shall then have their official opinion of the value of all the assets. Yours very truly, DOUGLAS ROBINSON. Mr Robinson and Mr. King, held a confer ence yesterday morning, at which were present also Edward Lauterbach, counsel for the receivers, and the two State appraisers who have been appraising the Merchants' Trust Company's assets. At the offices of E. Clarence Jones, the banker who is said by the protesting depositors to have offered good amounts for the assets of the Merchants' Trust Company to the receivers without having his offers considered, and concerning having his offers considered, and concerning whom the receivers have stated that they received no offers of any kind from him, it was stated to-day that they have a copy of a letter sent to the New-York Trust Company and received there from the special messenger who delivered it, offering $2,200,000 for all the assets of the Merchants' Trust Company, or $700,000 for the Hudson Valley Railway securities held by the trust company. No reply to this offer was ever received from the receivers, it was stated.

Several blocks of the Rutland securities held Several blocks of the Rutland securities held by the Merchants' Trust Company were sold yesterday at auction. Among them were $300,000 5 per cent bonds of the Chittenden Power Company, which brought 30, and 9,394 shares of stock of the same company, which went at $100 for the lot; 5,078 shares of Rutland Street Railway stock, $250 for the lot, and $168,000 of its first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, at 51; and $100,000 5 per cent bonds of the People's Gas Light Company of Rutland, which were sold at 50.

Excursion Tickets To Be Again Issued on Long Island Railroad.

The Long Island Ratiroad Company will place on sale at all its stations excursion tickets between all points on the system from Monday F. Price, a lawyer, appeared in their behalf, next. When the rates of fare were raised last considered the movement a most serious one, saying he had been asked to do so by the Chi-winter the company abandoned the sale of exsul here. He argued with Magistrate cursion tickets: Many villages on the island have business relations, and the raise in the fare, combined with the fact that round trip tickets would not be sold, was largely responsible for the protests over the new schedule. It was stated at the office of President Ralph Peters, in Long Island City, yesterday, that the reduction in rates on excursion tickets would be

TRADE IN CHICAGO. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Chicago. Aug. 9.—Wheat was firm on a small amount of business to-day. Russian crop news supplied the motive for the advance of %c to %c. which is shown in the closing quotations. Corn felt the effect of the heat and drouth in the central and southern sections of this State and Indiana, and was slightly influenced as well by the severe loss from a similar cause in Rumania and Hungary. The net advance was only is in old September and is to is in May corn. Oats had a slight advance, and provisions had the jackscrews under them, giving another vigorous turn.

Wheat opened at a slight improvement over the losing prices of yesterday, and despite a duli trade continued firm throughout the session. Reports of severe damage to the Russian crop found nany believers here. Receipts here were 148 cars, and shipments 153,600 bushels. The estimate for tomorrow is 232 cars. September sol1 from 824c to Sec. closing at 83c to 834c. The range of Dec oer was from 33% c to 54% c to 84% c. closing at 84%

The hot weather and reports of damage from Illinois and Indiana points gave the corn market strength at the opening and through most of the Trade was not very active. Local receipis were 209 cars, of which 67 were contract. Shipments hence were 521,000 bushels. The estimate for to-morrow was 107 cars. The highest for September was 54%c, and the lowest 53%c; lose was 53% to 55%. December closed at 47%c. after selling as high as 48c to 48% and as low

Influenced by a good export demand in the East and the extreme heat and dry weather in certain sections, the oats market opened firm. Trading was on a moderate scale, with prices fluctuating within a narrow range. Local receipts were 219 cars, with 312 estimated for to-morrow. Shipments were 200,000 bushels. The highest for September was 26%c and the lowest 26%c, the close was 26%c. December closed at 2715c to 27%c; the highest was Note to 274c, and the lowest 274c.

Provisions made further substantial gains in the fore part of the session. The attitude of the pack-ers in supporting the market is too determined to allow shorts much peace of mind, and the latter continued to cover. The Swift concern was again bidding up the price of pork. The demand for lard on foreign account was active. There was lit tle disposition to sell anything on the list, the offerings being mostly from local traders. Sep-tember pork sold from $14.10 to $14.22%; September lard sold from $7 621/2 to $7 65 to $7 70, and eased off September ribs sold from $8 32% up to to $7674. September ribs sold from $8324 up to $8374 to $840, and eased off to $8374. Hog receipts were 22,000 head, and prices were 5c higher.
